MANY TRAGEDIES DURING THE YEAR

Gettysburg and Adams County Witnessed Eighteen Tragedies during the Year now Closing. Nine-teen Met Violent Deaths.

Eighteen tragedies, resulting in the deaths of nineteen persons, occurred in Adams County during the year now closing—a record which has not been equalled for a long time. Of this list of violent deaths, numbering almost a score, three were suicides, three burned to death, several were the result of driving accidents, five drowned, while the remainder met other tragic ends. Several unsuccessful attempts at suicide, the deaths of former residents of the town and county who were killed elsewhere, and a number of sudden deaths here from natural causes are not included in the following list.

The first tragedy of the year occurred near East Berlin on January 14, when Ervin H. Myers had his skull crushed while cutting down a tree. The tree split and a large portion dropped on the man whose injuries caused death not long afterward.

February 11 Mrs. G. W. Steinour, of Gettysburg, was fatally burned while thawing out water pipes with a coal oil torch, dying during the day from the burns sustained.

The following day Miss Jane Collins burned to death while alone in her home near Bonneauville. No one reached the house in time to find out how the accident occurred, but it was thought her clothing caught while she was kindling fire in a stove.

Two days after this occurrence Elias Steinour was burned to death in a fire which consumed the house of Mrs. Keckler along the Taneytown road near town. The cause of the fire has always been a mystery and talk of foul play was frequent for days after the tragedy. The coroner made an investigation and found no indications which would point to that theory but there are still many people who think the house was set on fire after Mr. Steinour was robbed.

On March 20 James Herley, of Maria Furnace, committed suicide by shooting himself after making an unsuccessful attempt on the life of Bernice Carbaugh, a former sweetheart. Herley died shortly after inflicting his own injuries and Miss Carbaugh was in a serious condition in the York hospital for some time but ultimately recovered.

Two weeks later, on April 3, Charles Rote was killed in the Biglerville cold storage plant. It was his last day of work and he was going up on a freight elevator which got beyond control. He was crushed by the top of the shaft.

The body of Jacob C. Wagner, of Mount Pleasant township, was found not far from his home on April 15 after apparently having been exposed for several days. An investigation followed and a coroner's jury decided that he had committed suicide by taking either cyanide of potassium or strychnine. Mr. Wagner had been arrested on a charge of forgery and it was thought that his futile efforts to secure bail caused him to take his life.

Mrs. Kate Latshaw, aged 85 years, of East Berlin, was found in the Conewago Creek near East Berlin on May 18. It was surmised that she had wandered away from her home and, being unable to help herself, drowned quickly when she fell into the stream. Sunday, July 7, the quarry pond at Bittinger was the scene of a double drowning when George Gordon, of Hanover, got beyond his depth while wading in the pond and Eugene Rife, of Midway, tried to rescue him, both men going down.

Another tragedy took place at Bittinger on July 29 when Cornelius Hugh, a laborer at the lime kilns, was struck by a loaded runaway car which jumped from the incline and killed him instantly. Hugh had been resting at the side of the track.

Morris Moul, aged 17, a resident of Abbottstown, was killed on the evening of August 12 when he rode his bicycle into a team driven by George Lockman. Young Moul carried no lights and Mr. Lockman did not know until the following morning that an accident had occurred. An injury to the boy's abdomen caused his death inside of an hour.

Fairfield was the scene of a sad drowning on September 24 when John W. Bupp, the year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bupp, fell down a cellar way and drowned in some water which had accumulated there from heavy rains.

The last suicide of the year occurred September 30 when Augustus Peters, of Hamiltonban township, worried over financial matters and the fact that he was out of employment, loaded his pockets with stones and jumped into an eighteen foot pool at the copper mines in the western end of the county.

Michael Sullivan, a tramp, was killed

FIRST SHINGLE ROOF HEARING

Case of the Borough against M. K. Eckert Heard by Squire Hill. Claim Ordinance was not Violated. Decision Reserved.

A hearing was held before Squire Hill this morning in the case of the Borough of Gettysburg against Mark K. Eckert charged with violation of the recent ordinance regarding the erection of frame buildings and the placing of wooden roofs. After hearing evidence and argument the Justice reserved his decision.

Witnesses were produced to show that the new residence of Mr. Eckert on Springs avenue has a roof of wooden shingles and John W. Crowe, the architect, also testified on cross examination that the remainder of the house was of Natco hollow tile and plaster, making all but the roof fire-proof construction.

J. Donald Swope, Esq., who represented Mr. Eckert, contended that the nature of a building was not to be determined by its roof but rather by the character of the material in the walls, that the fact that the building was part of fire proof material—even though other portions were of wood—allowed its construction without interference with the ordinance. Mr. Swope cited a Supreme Court decision to sustain his contention. The defense also argued that the ordinance did not govern the nature of the roofs on any sort of building in the borough other than those 15 x 15 in dimensions.

Robert E. Wible, attorney for the town council, conducted the case for the borough.

DYNAMITE CASE GOES TO JURY

Labor Union Leaders' Trial
Nears End.

VERDICT AFFECTS FORTY

They Are Charged With Conspiracy to Illegally Transport Explosives on Passenger Trains.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 27.—The fate of the forty labor union officials, accused of complicity in the McNamara dynamite plots, now rests with the jury.

Federal Judge Anderson instructed the jury and ordered it to retire. All the verdicts, while separate as to each defendant, are to be returned at one time.

"How long will the jury be out?" was the question asked as the jurors filed out. A basis for a belief that verdicts would not be reached when court opened and that the jurors might require a longer time was found in the court's instruction to "carefully weigh all the evidence in the case." It required almost twelve weeks to introduce the evidence.

The defendants to await the outcome include: Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, of which John J. McNamara, the confessed dynamite, was once secretary, and various executive board members of that union.

Herbert S. Hockin, accused as an accomplice of Orrie E. McManigal, another confessed dynamite. Olaf A. Tveitmo, secretary of the California Building Trades Council. Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco. J. E. Munsey, Salt Lake City, Utah. The three last named are charged with promoting the Los Angeles Times explosion, in which twenty-one persons lost their lives.

These men are not charged under the federal laws with personally causing any explosion. They are charged with conspiracy to violate the federal laws and with aiding in an illegal transportation of dynamite and nitroglycerine on passenger trains.

In closing his argument to the jury, District Attorney Miller again referred to the argument of United States Senator John W. Kern, counsel for the defendants. Senator Kern had left the city, saying he was going to Washington. Mr. Miller said:

"The Los Angeles Times building explosion was called the crime of the century, but the real crime of the century was this conspiracy. It would be an everlasting disgrace to our country and to our civilization if these forty conspirators are not convicted."

"Gentlemen of the jury, a United States senator, sworn to uphold the laws of his country, has dared to stand before you in defense of these enemies of the republic. You should find these conspirators guilty and put your seal of condemnation upon such conduct by a United States senator."

Judge Anderson in his charge defined conspiracy under the United States statutes, spoke of the credibility of witnesses, and said that if the jurors believed any part of the evidence of McManigal and Edward Clark, both of whom pleaded guilty, and found that they were materially substantiated, they should then give their entire testimony such weight as in their opinion it deserves. The jury then retired.

TAFT SAILS FOR HOME

President Leaves Colon on the Battleship Arkansas.

Panama, Dec. 27.—President Taft sailed for home from Colon on the battleship Arkansas.

Yesterday the president and party, escorted by Colonel Goethals, visited the Culebra cut and made a trip through old Panama in automobiles. There were also conference and courtesy calls.

Panamanians are well satisfied with the president's visit and expect that it will result immediately on his return to the United States in his putting into effect the provisions of the canal bill and appointing Colonel Goethals as governor of the zone.

Sues to Recover For Airship Death.

New York, Dec. 27.—The first suit ever brought here to recover damages for the death of a passenger in an airship was filed in the supreme court by the widow of Victor L. Mason, who was killed in London, Eng., on May 13. Mrs. Mason sued an accident and guarantee company of London for $15,000 on a policy insuring her husband against death by violent means. The policy was issued by the defendant's New York agents in 1906. Mr. Mason, the complaint says, was a passenger in an aeroplane "for pleasure" when he fell out and was killed.

Gets $14,000 Damages.

Paris, Dec. 27.—The court of appeals confirmed the judgment of the lower court, which awarded $14,000 to Justus C. Strawbridge, a Philadelphia merchant, against the Societe Rouliere, an automobile hiring concern, for injuries sustained by himself and wife in an accident three years ago. The court ruled that the manufacturer of the car must pay the damages.

PARENTS IN HOSPITAL AND SON IN JAIL

Shotgun Accidentally Discharged
During a Struggle.

Somerville, N. J., Dec. 27. — John Balas, an eighteen-year-old youth, is in the Somerset county jail here, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Balas, are in All Souls' hospital at Morristown, suffering from serious gunshot wounds as the result of a shooting affray at the Balas home near Bernardsville.

Young Balas says that a shotgun was accidentally discharged as he was struggling with his father to prevent him from shooting his mother. A heavy load of shot tore the father's arm so that it may have to be amputated, and the condition of Mrs. Balas, who received part of the load in the abdomen, is considered critical.

The youth, who is well educated and a chemist, told Detective Totten, who arrested him at his home, that his family had moved from New York to the Bernardsville home some months ago with the hope that a change of environment might cure his father's dissolute habits.

His father, he said, continued to drink. He was intoxicated when he sat down to his Christmas dinner, and when reprimanded by his wife he flew into a drunken rage and attempted to stab her with a carving fork. It was at this stage that young Balas interfered and a fight followed for the possession of the shotgun, which his father had seized. During the struggle, according to the son, the weapon was discharged.

MINISTER FORCED TO RESIGN

Rev. Dr. Mortimer Ousted as Rector of Big Philadelphia Church.

Philadelphia, Dec. 27.—Dr. Alfred Garnett Mortimer, one of the most widely known Episcopal ministers of the United States, for the last twenty-one years rector of the exclusive St. Mark's Episcopal church of this city, has been forced out of the ministry of that church and of the diocese of Pennsylvania by the demand of Bishop William Rhinelander that he immediately resign.

Bishop Rhinelander made the demand upon Dr. Mortimer on Monday afternoon last, following revelations made to the bishop regarding gossip in which the name of Dr. Mortimer and a woman were joined.

Immediately after hearing the story Bishop Rhinelander sent for Dr. Mortimer to come to the church house, and within two hours the resignation was in the hands of Bishop Rhinelander and had been accepted by him.

George Wharton Pepper, one of the most prominent Episcopal laymen in the United States and accounting warden of the church, said: "Dr. Mortimer was a splendid preacher, but we ascertained that he failed to personally live up to his teachings."

Dr. Mortimer is sixty-four years of age and a bachelor.

WILSON LEAVES FOR STAUNTON

Will Attend Old Home Celebration in Virginia Town.

RECOVERING FROM THE GRIP

President-Elect Spent a Day in Bed and Received Visitors There—Considering Inaugural Plans.

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 27.—President-elect and Mrs. Wilson left today for Staunton, Va. The through train from New York stopped at Princeton Junction for them.

Two parlor cars had been reserved for them and a number of Staunton folks who are going back for the "old home" celebration, of which the governor is to be the central figure.

Among those who are going is Dick Taylor, one of the secret service men now with the governor. He was born there some years ago, and not long afterward skipped out without his father's consent. He annexed himself to the navy of Uncle Sam and was at Samoa harbor that night when a great hurricane sent ship after ship to the bottom with crews piped to quarters and bands playing their national airs. Taylor was called to the wheel of one of the American gunboats and drove her to a shoal, from where nearly the entire crew was rescued. He has a medal from congress for that night's work.

Not the least of President-elect Wilson's problem is the granting of the honor of being his personal escort in the inaugural parade of March 4. Representations are being made in behalf of Company L, of the Second regiment, N. G. N. J., which is composed of Princeton men, many of them being neighbors and old associates of the governor. This company was personal escort when he was inaugurated as chief executive of New Jersey.

Mr. Wilson has nearly recovered from a threatened attack of the grip. He kept to his bed yesterday as a precaution. A fever of 101 was recorded, but this has entirely disappeared and the patient felt well enough to make the trip to Trenton, where he had an engagement with Congressman Carter Glass, chairman of the house subcommittee on banking and currency.

His family physician, Dr. J. M. Caronochan, however, advised against any unnecessary exposure if Governor Wilson desired to be sure of going to Staunton. Accordingly the president-elect, sitting up in bed, received Congressman Glass and H. Parker Willis, finance expert of the New York Journal of Commerce, at his home. They said they went over with him the salient features of proposed currency reform to be undertaken by the next administration and that the governor has some very decided views of his own on the subject.

On Jan. 7 the committee will begin its hearings at Washington, and a number of persons identified with currency problems have been asked to come and to bring their ideas with them.

DETECT SUBMARINES

Use of the Aeroplane in Naval Warfare Is Shown at Annapolis.

Washington, Dec. 27.—Despite the muddy waters of the Chesapeake bay near Annapolis the aeroplanes of the navy have been able to detect submerged submarines, and it is believed that one doubtful point regarding the aeroplane's actual importance in warfare has been partly cleared up.

A report from the navy aviation camp just received at the navy department regarding joint aeroplane and submarine maneuvers recently conducted at Annapolis states that in clear water an aeroplane can easily pick up a submarine at considerable depth without the aid of glasses.

DYING MAN COUGHS UP TOOTH AND RECOVERS

Was Supposed to be Incurable Consumptive.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Dec. 27.—William Peck, who has been operated on for lung trouble, treated by a score of doctors and given up as an incurable consumptive, went from a sanitarium to his home in Sayre, believing that he could not be cured.

He was seized with a violent coughing spell at his home, and the cause of his illness was coughed up in the form of a wisdom tooth which for two years has been imbedded in his lungs.

After he had coughed up the tooth he began to grow better at once and his speedy recovery now seems to be certain.

Two years ago Peck was in New York and had a wisdom tooth extracted by a dentist. He took gas and the tooth slipped from the dentist's forceps into the mouth of the patient.

BRUTAL ATTACK ON WOMAN

Man Beats Her and Tries to Burn Her Alive.

Pottstown, Pa., Dec. 27.—Following the sending of a Black Hand letter to Mrs. Harry Brooke, a matron, of Stowe, a man attacked the woman as she was returning from a Christmas entertainment.

Mrs. Brooke was beaten into unconsciousness and her clothing was saturated with coal oil, her assailant probably intending to burn her alive.

The woman screamed for aid, and her husband, armed with a gun, rushed out of the house to her assistance. Her assailant fled before he could apply a match to her oil-soaked clothing.

Mrs. Brooke had been knocked unconscious by a club. Her condition is regarded as serious.

For two years the woman has been receiving anonymous communications from some enemy who signs himself "The Black Hand." Various attempts have been made before on her life. Vitriol was poured in her eyes a few months ago, and on another occasion she was ordered to meet a man in Mount Zion cemetery or she would be murdered.

Connellsville, Pa., Dec. 27.—Finding a strange package on her doorstep marked "Do not open until Christmas," Mrs. J. W. Mitchell's curiosity got the better of her Tuesday, and she investigated. Bearing a card, "from a guilty conscience," was found a $25 muff which had been stolen last March. There was no other mark on the package, which was tied in tissue paper and Christmas ribbon.

ADRIANOPE BLOCKS PEACE

Turkey's Big Fortress Still Bone of Contention.

MAY OFFER NEW BOUNDARY

Salonika May Be Held Out as a Bait to Draw Off the Demands of Bulgaria.

London, Dec. 27.—The possession of the Turkish fortress of Adrianople, which has been the principal bone of contention since the beginning of the war between Turkey and the Balkan allies, still remains the real stumbling block in the way of the attainment of peace.

Compensation for Bulgaria, however, in some other part of European Turkey will probably in the end remove this difficulty and enable her to consent to the retention by Turkey of the great fortress which the allied troops have been unable to subdue.

Salonika has been suggested as a possible bait to induce the Bulgarians to abandon their claims to the northern city, which the Turks refuse to yield.

Perhaps with some such idea in their minds, the Turkish delegates have, it is reported, included in the counter proposals they have offered to the peace conference the stipulation that Salonika shall remain in their hands, a line being drawn from that southern port through Serres and Adrianople to Midia.

The maximum demands of the Balkan allies and the minimum offer of the Turks will thus be before the peace delegates when they assemble again in St. James' palace tomorrow and a definite basis for bargaining will have been formulated.

If the Turks are successful in retaining Adrianople they will doubtless consent to limit their demands to a western boundary running from Adri-nople southward along the railroad to Enos on the Aegean sea, thus leaving the Dardanelles straits in their hands.

Diplomatic circles consider there is certain to be a gradual approximation of the excessive terms put forward by the Balkan allies and the Turks and when that stage has once been reached, third parties may have a chance to intervene in order to reconcile the remaining differences between the adversaries.

It is stated on what is said to be authority that on the resumption of the peace conference, Rechid Pasha, the Turkish envoy, will bring forward counter proposals which are as follows:

Bulgaria to receive an outlet to the Aegean sea, Crete to be ceded to Greece, the Sanjak of Novi-bazar to be surrendered to Serbia if Austria sanctions, Macedonia and Albania to form autonomous provinces under the suzerainty of the sultan, Salonika to be a free port under the control of the powers, Adrianople under no circumstances to be surrendered; the allies must share the Ottoman debt.

The expedition with which the Turkish government has decided on counter peace proposals leads to the assumption that they will be equally wide from what are likely to be the eventual terms of the peace treaty as were the demands of the allies, and that there still is a prolonged process of bargaining to be gone through before the conference is ended.

TO MARCH TO WASHINGTON

Suffragists Plan to Hike to Wilson's Inauguration.

Hudson, N. Y., Dec. 27.—The suffragist "hikers," now marching from New York to Albany for the cause, will march from New York to Washington next.

The trip will be started early in February, in time to reach the national capital at the inauguration of President Wilson.

"General" Rosalie Jones, leading the band of suffragists to Albany, so announced. The start will be made from the Battery, and the fair marchers will carry a message from the national association of suffragists to President Wilson, urging him to enroll in the cause and to support it in his message to congress.

New York, Dec. 27.—Fifteen detectives were assigned to search for John H. Dawson, a former Skiatook, Oklahoma, who disappeared on Tuesday with $10,000 in certified checks in his clothes. He had brought his wife and seven children here after selling his Oklahoma farm. Mrs. Dawson believes her husband has been robbed and murdered.

FIND HEIR IN JAIL

Man Sentenced For Forgery Inherits $22,500.

Allentown, Pa., Dec. 27.—Heir to half an estate valued at $45,000, Charles B. Graw, thirty-four years old, was found in the Lehigh county prison, where he still has four months to serve of a sentence of a year for passing worthless checks upon a hotel-keeper in this city last summer.

Several years ago while Graw was employed on the New Jersey Central railroad at Northampton, near Allentown, he saved the life of James A. Dobbins, an aged man of Milwaukee, and for this act of bravery he is to be rewarded by a half share of the estate of Dobbins, who recently died.

Dobbins' son has been away for some weeks looking for the heir, and Graw was finally found through an Allentown newspaper.

Graw, in his cell, expressed surprise that a fortune should come to him in this way. He said that he had forgotten the incident, but now recalls that after he had pulled Dobbins off the track just as a passenger train was bearing down upon him, the aged man asked the name of the hero. Graw will make an effort to obtain his release from jail in order to draw the fortune.

BRYAN TELLS CONGRESS HOW

Warns Senate and House of "Blight of Seniority."

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 27.—Charging that reactionary Democrats in the senate and house are planning to fasten themselves in important committees, William J. Bryan, in a Commoner editorial, warned the new Democratic congress against the "blight of seniority."

"The Democratic party," he says, "is going to have another struggle in both senate and house over committee assignments and is again threatened with the blight of seniority, that is, it will be asked to put the ambitions and interests of individuals above the welfare of the party."

"The progressive Democrats will now be in the majority in the senate caucus. Will they allow a reactionary minority to man the ship? Will they allow length of service to outweigh sympathy with the progressive cause?"

"If it were a personal matter, the new senators might prefer to yield to the older ones, but a man who acts in a representative capacity is not at liberty to be courteous at the expense of his constituents. The Democrats of the senate owe it to the party to make the senate organization represent the prevailing sentiment of the party, and thus enable it to work in harmony with the administration."

"To do this the rule of seniority should be ignored. Assignments to committees should be made upon the basis of fitness and with a view to giving faithful expression to the will of the majority. No Democrat is deserving of preferment who puts his personal interests above the general welfare. If our party is to have a long lease of power, it must regard the rights of the people as paramount."

UNION MAN IS SLAIN

Secretary of Steamfitters Says He Shot In Self Defense.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—James Conway, connected with the local steamfitters' union, was shot and killed by Thomas Freer, secretary of the union, while in the latter's office.

Freer, who was found by the police standing over Conway with the revolver in his hand, said he was attacked by Conway and two companions during an argument and that he shot in self-defense. Conway died in an ambulance.

Saved 200 Lives; Drowns.

New Orleans, Dec. 27.—Claude Bro-fal, thirty-seven years old, who was found drowned in a shallow ditch, was identified as a former Atlantic City, N. J., life saver. Letters showed that he had saved 200 persons from being drowned during seven years of service.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Brown Teaching Rockefeller's Grandson to Pitch.

Fowler McCormick, fifteen years old, son of Harold F. McCormick and grandson of John D. Rockefeller, began a course in baseball pitching recently under the tutelage of Mordecai Brown, former star twirler of the Chicago National league club.

The boy, who will be one of the world's wealthiest men, is being trained for slab work at Princeton university. His father is a Princeton graduate, and it is his ambition to watch his son some day strike out the batsmen of Yale and Harvard.

Brown will give him two lessons each week, and next spring Fowler will try for a pitching berth on his "prep" school team.

A study course known as the "special technique of football" was begun at the University of Wisconsin recently by order of George W. Ehler, director of physical education. The course, to be given two hours per week during December and January, will include history of the game, theories of defense and offense, team and individual play, principles of practice, training, instruction, coaching and schedules; rules, duties of officials, equipment; its selection, use and care; management of teams and financial administration.

The course is open to juniors, seniors or graduates who have had practical experience in the game. University credit will be given under certain conditions.

Yale Quits Hockey League.

Yale will be among the missing when the college hockey teams begin their annual battles for supremacy in the International Hockey league early in 1913 at the St. Nicholas rink, New York.

At the annual meeting of the league the building tendered its resignation. The reason assigned was that at New Haven, right under their noses, the Yale men have a fine rink. In the past it has been used mainly for practice. Those interested felt that as a free lance the Yale seven would have a wider scope. The team will be able to lengthen its schedule and play whenever and wherever it likes. Also most of its games thus will be at home.

Campbell Quits Baseball.

Vincent Campbell, the clever outfielder of the Boston Nationals, has quit the diamond for good. At least, so he says, though he has quit before. Campbell is with an automobile firm in Pittsburgh and says he can make more money selling autos than by playing baseball. "Unless you are a Ty Cobb or a Hans Wagner there is not much in professional baseball for a young fellow," said Campbell. "Particularly is this true when you are with a tail ender."

Stahl May Not Play First.

The Boston American league club announces the sale of Hugh Bradley, its utility first baseman, to the Jersey City club of the International league. Bradley is sold outright.

This is taken to mean that Harold Janverin will play first base if Jake Stahl finds he has slowed up.

Bradley was purchased from the Worcester club of the New England league in 1910 and was not used much by the Red Sox last season.

Orth Re-engaged as Coach.

At Orth, the veteran pitcher, now a member of the National league staff of umpires, has signed a contract to coach the Washington and Lee baseball squad at Lynchburg, Va., again next spring. Orth coached the team so well last year it won seventeen games, lost four and tied one.

Indian Chutney.

Take one quart each of green tomatoes and apples and one onion. Chop finely, cover with salt and let stand two hours. Drain in a colander and add one pound of raisins, two cupsful of sugar, one pint of vinegar, one cupful of lemon juice, one teaspoonful of cayenne pepper, one tablespoonful each of ground ginger and mustard. Let these ingredients stand overnight. In the morning cook slowly four hours.

No Two Ways About It.

A colored preacher who had only a small share of this world's goods and whose salary was not forthcoming on several occasions became exasperated. At his morning service he spoke to his church members thusly:

"Brethren and sisters, things is not as should be. You must not expect I can preach on 't' n' 'a' board 'n' heb-on."—Ladies' Home Journal.

HUMOROUS QUIPS

The New A B C.

A was an author, who thought of a pun. B was the barber, who thought it was fun. C was the cook who was waiting for wages. And D was pure drivell for two hundred E. electrician who planned out the show. F was a friend, who was sure it would go. G was the goal of dramatic intent. And H hack composer at ninety per cent. I was insanity, making a book today. Of J—that's the joke—that had paid off the cook. K was the manager's kinsman, who said That for love of the hack he would have the play read. M was the manager, skilled in the arts. N were the nymphs that he picked for their parts. O was the opportune opening night. P the press agent, who knew what to write. Q was the query of "Why did he do it?" R the reply, "Well, he doesn't sit through it." S was the sidewalk brigade in a throng. T was the usual topical song. U was the usher who sneers at your haste. V was the varlet whose clothes hurt your taste. And W waltz, which must go—it's the style. X was the X for two seats on the aisle. Y is yourself, who bought the tickets today. And Z is the zany who goes to the play. —Life.

An Armistice.

A lawyer was defending a man accused of housebreaking and said to the court:

"Your honor, I submit that my client did not break into the house at all. He found the parlor window open and merely inserted his right arm and removed a few trifling articles. Now, my client's arm is not himself, and I fail to see how you can punish the whole individual for an offense committed by only one of his limbs."

"That argument," said the judge, "is very well put. Following it logically, I sentence the defendant's arm to one year's imprisonment. He can accompany it or not, as he chooses." The defendant smiled and with his lawyer's assistance unscrewed his cork arm and, leaving it in the dock, walked out.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Macedoine Vegetables.

Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter, add three tablespoonfuls of flour and add gradually one and one-half cupsful of milk. When thickened add one cupful each cooked string beans, peas and cold boiled potatoes cut in cubes. Season with salt and paprika and let stand fifteen minutes over hot water before serving.

Corn Bread.

Mix two cupsful of cornmeal with one cupful of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one teaspoonful of salt. Add two well beaten eggs, one pint of sweet milk and, last of all, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Beat thoroughly, turn into a buttered shallow pan and bake about thirty minutes.

Something Missing.

"This village is more than 1,000 years old," boasted the landlord, "a quaint old place surrounded by fine scenery." "But where," demanded the tourist, "are the merry villagers dancing on the green?" The landlord's brow clouded. "All the tourists ask for them," said he. "If this keeps up the municipality will have to maintain a few."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
